The Education Service works hard to ensure the Academy will continue to work in close collaboration with the wider family of schools in Northumberland, ensuring the best learning practices for the young people in Blyth.

Northumberland

The Blyth Academy is set in a beautiful area of Northumberland with many places of interest. The Northumberland Coast is a designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty covering 100 miles of coastline from Berwick-Upon-Tweed to the River Coquet estuary in the north-east of England.

Each small town in Northumberland has a number of attractions and is usually self-contained, offering everything you need without venturing further afield. Some of these areas are more in demand than others and will often have more of a premium in the range of house prices. The premium paid will depend on many factors including school OFSTED results, crime rates, proximity to local services and amenities that are offered to the local population. To be able to keep up with demand for housing, more affordable estates on the outskirts of the towns can offer modern housing at a more reasonable price. There are certain exclusive estates that do not follow this demand; examples of which are Morpeth, Ponteland, Alnwick and Bedlington.
